

Will Resume Duties Monday

Ex-Wellsville Chief Cleared Of Bribe Charge, Reinstated

WELLSVILLE—John B. Hephner, 54, will resume his duties Monday as chief of the Wellsville police department — cleared of charges of misconduct in office filed by Mayor William Daugherty.

Removed from office April 7 on charges that he accepted bribes, he was ordered reinstated by the Wellsville Civil Service Commission in a hearing that ended at 3 a.m. today.

The ruling by the commission marked the end of two nights of testimony and argument by opposing counsel.

The three-member commission heard the closing arguments from attorneys for the administration and the defense called a recess at 12:55 this morning.

The commission went directly to the safety-service director's office on the first floor of city hall to begin deliberations. Two hours later, the members returned to the council chamber on the second floor, where the hearing was conducted, and announced the decision.

The statement was read by Edward M. Welch, chairman. A cheer went up from the audience when it learned Hephner was to be reinstated.

The statement read by Welch said: "We agree that the mayor has acted in the best interests of the city of Wellsville in bringing the charges to light. However, after careful consideration of the evidence, we feel the charges were not proved and order John Hephner reinstated."

Mrs. Hephner, who was seated in the audience, immediately broke into tears. She said: "God was with us."

Well-wishers crowded forward to shake hands with the chief. Hephner said later he would report to police headquarters Monday morning.

Hephner's accuser was Robert Logan, 59, of Broadway, pool-room owner and vending machine operator. He had signed an affidavit claiming he had been paying Hephner "for protection." He said the payments started after pinball machines were licensed in Wellsville.

Mayor Daugherty removed Hephner on April 7 charging him with misconduct in office "namely your acceptance of money given for the purpose of using your position in granting favors to the giver in violation of your sworn duty as a police officer."

Hephner continually denied the charges.

He has been a member of the Wellsville force 22 years and

President Calls For Justice Among Races

Winds Up Six-Day Tour of Appalachia Poverty Regions

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—President Johnson, touring the Deep South, called today for "justice among the races." And he suggested that much of the South may find racial peace "before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson made his dramatic appeal for the civil rights cause in an address prepared for a breakfast meeting with members of the Georgia legislature. His remarks, canvassing what he termed the "many troubles" of the South, were certain to be regarded as unusually significant.

Winding up a six-state tour of poverty-pocked Appalachia, the President suggested that in searching for racial justice, Georgia and the South "have a sure and faithful guide—the Constitution of the United States."

He declared: "Because the Constitution requires it—and because justice demands it—we must protect the constitutional rights of all of our people."

"For no one of us is fully free until all of us are fully free. And the rights of no single American are truly secure until the rights of all Americans are secure."

Johnson said that "racial problems have deep roots in Southern soil." However, he emphasized his view that such problems are not peculiar to any single section, saying: "They also trouble the passions of men on the shores of Maryland, in the slums of Philadelphia and in the streets of New York."

Actually, he took a hopeful view of the tribulations of the South, with these words: "We may well find racial peace in much of the South before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson also appealed for rejection of extremism. Conjoining memories of the Civil War, he said:

"Heed not those who come

Patrol Hunts Trucker In Hit-Skip Crash

A hit-skip pickup truck sideswiped a motorcycle Thursday afternoon at 4:45 on County Rd. 421, about one and a half miles north of New Waterford, sending the young cyclist to Youngstown South Side Hospital.

Oliver B. Gibson, 20, of 280 N. Boardman St., New Springfield, is listed in fair condition with a broken left arm and chin and scalp lacerations suffered when he was thrown from his bike to the pavement.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol reported Gibson was driving his 1957 motorcycle north toward Route 14, apparently en route home, when the southbound vehicle, believed to be a light green 1959 to 1960 Chevrolet or GMC pickup truck, went left of center and struck Gibson.

The truck sideswiped the cycle on the left side flinging Gibson to the roadway and damaging the handlebar, exhaust, foot pedal and battery case.

The Patrol is seeking leads to the whereabouts of the hit-skip driver. Sgt. Ralph Rizzo said information sources are kept in strict confidence.

Plane Crash Probed by FBI

Revolver Found Amid Wreckage

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — A cocked and loaded pistol found in the trial of wreckage left by a Pacific Air Lines plane has brought the FBI into the investigation of Thursday's crash.

All 44 persons aboard the turbo-prop airliner were killed. A quarter-mile of metal fragments, a garbled tape recording, the gun and bits of the victims' bodies were all the evidence that Civil Aeronautics Board investigators had to work with.

The plane, a morning flight from Reno, Nev., went down after stopping in Stockton, Calif., just 40 miles east, San Francisco, its destination.

Seconds before the airliner plunged nose first to earth, a garbled message came over its radio but was lost in a screech of static and electronic squeals. The Federal Aviation Agency had a tape recording of it that investigators hoped would provide some clue.

The FBI took charge of a cocked and loaded 38-caliber revolver. At first it was believed to belong to a San Francisco police inspector, George Lacau, who with his wife, Betty, was a passenger on the plane.

A check in police records, however, showed that none of the three revolvers registered by Lacau had the serial numbers of the weapon found in the

Ellwood City C. of C. Executive Speaker

500 at Chamber Dinner In Lisbon

LISBON — "Everyone has to put his shoulder to the wheel and pull himself up by his boot straps, and work to secure industries to locate in your area," R. J. (Denny) Schill, executive vice president of the Ellwood City, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, told approximately 500 persons here Thursday night.

The dinner program at the school was sponsored by the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce as its first major effort to attract new industries.

"I don't know why it is, but most county seats, like Lisbon, are complacent just to have the courthouse. But the transient trade is not enough, and the county seats just keep going backwards," Schill said.

The speaker explained how residents of Ellwood City, which was a one-steel-mill town in 1941 formed the Ellwood City Industrial Development Corporation, a non-profit corporation designed to attract new industries.

Largely through its efforts, 43 industries, increasing the city's annual payroll from $10,000,000 to $47,000,000, subsequently located in Ellwood City.

"You owe it to your children to build your town up so that they can have a chance at gainful employment when they graduate. Everyone must work together," Schill said.

"You must have a well-financed Chamber of Commerce, good schools, churches, good workers who will give an honest day's work, good labor relations, good roads and railroads. Then it takes dedicated people who will work day and night if necessary, to prove to industries that you are interested and dedicated

Rusk to Attend NATO Session

Will Urge Allies Hike Viet War Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew to Europe today to urge NATO allies to contribute more to the fight against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam and to support the U.S. economic boycott of Cuba.

Rusk will attend a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers at the Hague next week following a visit to Brussels.

On the eve of Rusk's departure, Undersecretary of State George Ball sharply challenged the idea attributed to President Charles de Gaulle of France that the Atlantic Alliance serves the defense of the West and should be preserved but that its organization is a bad idea.

Some U.S. officials said this reasoning could lead to a conclusion that the basic defense pledge of NATO should be preserved but that the military command system should be radically altered and weakened if not actually abandoned.

Ball did not mention France or de Gaulle by name, but his speech at Georgetown University was in some ways the most outspoken discussion of the dangers facing NATO heard in a long time.

"The Atlantic world feels increasingly strong and confident of the future," Ball said. "There is danger that, if this happy state persists for long, some may be tempted to regard the obligations of a massive enterprise such as NATO as unnecessary."

Executives Say LBJ Wins Confidence

Business Council, U.S. Officials Open Talks

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—There were plentiful signs, as the Business Council began weekend meetings with high administration officials today, that President Johnson has gone far toward winning the confidence of business.

Several of the 100 top industrialists here for the council's spring conference—mostly Republicans — told reporters privately they feel Johnson has shown sympathy and understanding for the problems of businessmen.

Some said they believed this view was widely held in the industrial and financial community.

One explained: "They feel a lot more comfortable with him than they did with President Kennedy."

"They think he really listens to them when he asks for their advice, and they know he always did ask advice from business friends, when he was senator and vice president."

Said another: "He got off on the right foot with business from the start by cutting the budget and promising a dollar's value for every taxpayer's dollar spent."

The $11.5-billion tax cut, paring of the federal pay rolls, and the President's apparent appreciation of the role of corporate profits as a basic ingredient of economic growth were among other factors cited as appealing to businessmen.

Most of the council's active membership — which embraces many of the biggest names in industry—have had close contact with Johnson since he became President. Two of them, railroad president Stuart Saunders and auto manufacturer Henry Ford II, headed the Business Committee for Tax Reduction.

Special telephone lines to Moscow were reported being set up from Cairo and Aswan, 430 miles to the south, to Moscow.

Last of Rail Strikes Ended

Injunction Served Against Pickets

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. marshals served a court order early today ending the last of strikes against four railroads by firemen protesting the elimination of hundreds of firemen's jobs under an arbitration ruling.

The marshals served the temporary injunction against 25 pickets at the Joliet, Ill., switching yards of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway.

The order was issued in a special night session by U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman in Chicago.

More than 800 railway workers had respected the picket lines set up by the 25 firemen Thursday after brief strikes against three other railroads had already ended.

Picture Actor Sought To Buy Painted by First Graders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While reporters and photographers buzzed about a group of artists discussed how much their work was worth.

"I'll take $10, myself," said one.

"No, $800,000," said another. Actor Cary Grant and film director Jean Negulesco were among those who noticed the work — a 14-by-3-foot mural — and made inquiries about buying it.

It's a watercolor called "a trip to the Airport," and it was done by 28 Los Angeles first-graders. Grant and Negulesco spotted it — on separate occasions — at Los Angeles International Airport.

I turned out to be priceless. No one knew whose it was, to ask the price.

The tag with the artists' identification had fallen off the back. A citywide hunt for the creators ended when teachers at Alameda Elementary School recognized it as the mural of Bonnie Halfacre's first-grade class.

The airport, sponsors of a children's art display, returned the work to the artists Thursday.

"That's my jet," said Larry Gutierrez, 8.

"I did the restaurants," said Carol Plumb, 7, pointing to what looked like terminal buildings.

Only half the original 28 are still in the school in Highland Park, and Miss Halfacre is working in Provo, Utah. The children are second-graders, now.

Truman Lavish With Advice On Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman, feeling just fine thank you on his 80th birthday today, solved problems right and left but confessed that a worry was gnawing at him.

The worry: What will Bess, the former first lady whom he left back home in Independence, Mo., think of his performance in Washington?

She is always afraid," he said, "that I will insult somebody I am not supposed to insult."

So far Truman, special guest of President Johnson and the nation, has avoided insulting anybody.

But he has given an elder statesman's advice on several problems including:

1. How long should a president work each day. Fourteen hours, Truman said flatly.

2. How can a president avoid being assassinated as he rides through crowds. Put back the two Secret Service guards who used to ride on the rear bumper, Truman said.

Truman arrived from Independence Thursday in an Air Force plane, and quickly went to Johnson's defense on the handling of hound dogs. The President had got into some hot water recently by lifting "Him" and "Her" by the ears.

When a newsman inquired whether that was the way to handle hounds, Truman asked:

"Have you ever had any hounds?"

"No," the newsman said.

"Then what the hell are you hollering about?" Truman said.

"That's the way to handle hounds."

Many events are on Truman's schedule today, including an off the cuff talk National Press Club and a dinner meeting with old buddies of the famous World War II Truman investigating committee.

But it is unlikely that any will surpass an event of Thursday when Truman got the Grand Golden Cross of Austria in the plush home of the Austrian ambassador.

Truman on this occasion proved himself adept at shifting from bourbon to champagne and back again without stripping a gear.

The ambassador, Dr. Wilfried Platzer, presented him the magnificent decoration as both men stood under an oil painting of Archduchess Christine, favorite daughter of Empress Maria Theresa of the Hapsburgs.

The ambassador praised Truman for helping rebuild Austria after World War II and keep it free.

Last stop for Truman Thursday night was a dinner of the Washington Masons where he got the award for distinguished service from the grand lodge of the district.

Institution To Aid Poverty Fight

Regional Development Unit Planned at OSU

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A Regional Development Institution on the Ohio University campus will play a major part in the war on poverty in southeastern Ohio.

This was disclosed by university sources Thursday night after President Johnson announced that the federal Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA) had signed a contract to help establish the institution.

William Sheehan of Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, has been hired to direct the institution, university sources said.

The President announced signing of the ARA contract during his speech on the Ohio U. campus Thursday. He told his audience that establishment of the institution "will make Ohio University the focal point of economic development for the southeastern Ohio area."

A university spokesman told The Associated Press Thursday night that plans for the institution have been under way for more than a month, but President Johnson's announcement of ARA support supplied the project with its first real boost.

"The project was begun near the end of March and a director (Sheehan) was hired about the beginning of April in the hope that financial support would come later from government and private interests," the spokesman said.

Washington sources said establishing the institution is expected to cost $132,500. The ARA reportedly will contribute $104,000 in technical assistance funds.

The ARA said 21 southeastern Ohio counties will be served by the institution: Adams, Athens, Belmont, Brown, Clermont, Gallia, Guernsey, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Noble, Perry, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton and Washington.

The Ohio U. Spokesman said the idea for the Regional Development Institution began when the southeastern Ohio Regional Council was revitalized about a year ago.

He said leaders of the area wanted to establish a research body which could provide information on southeastern Ohio to businesses and other interests desiring to locate there.

He said support for the institution, in addition to government funds, is expected to come from fees paid by private interests for research services performed by the institution.

The institution is expected to call on faculty members from Ohio University and Rio Grande and Marietta colleges to do the research, the spokesman said.

Grim Anniversary

Dienbienphu, French stronghold in northern Viet Nam, fell 10 years ago.

The fall meant the end of what the French themselves called "la guerre pourrie," freely translated as "the mixed-up war." It brought about a government headed by Pierre Mendes-France — pledged to obtain an Indo-Chinese armistice. It also brought on the cease-fire agreements signed at Geneva on July 21, 1954, ending the longest war in the 20th century.

The French fought this struggle of attrition for seven years and seven months. The Geneva agreements, splitting Viet Nam and neutralizing Laos and Cambodia, dampened and virtually extinguished French influence in Indo-China.

The United States had been extending aid to Indo-China since 1951, when military and economic assistance was dispatched to help the French in their struggle with the Communist rebels. By 1954 the aid had come to $1.5 billion.

The United States supported the French with Navy and Air Force planes. John Foster Dulles as secretary of state went to "the brink of war" over Indo-China. Only British influence held up American military intervention.

Indo-China cost France twice as much as the Marshall Plan gave her in terms of treasure. France spent $5 billion to fight guerrilla war; the United States contribution to that war was more than $2 billion.

In the present "dirty, untidy, disagreeable" war in Viet Nam, to use Secretary of State Dean Rusk's echoing phrase, Dienbienphu seems to have little historic meaning for militarists who urge a strategy of "escalation," the strategy of massive action that destroyed France.

They Survive the Crash

Investigators of the Federal Aviation Agency are thinking about a survival test that will fascinate everybody who has flown in a commercial airliner.

They may put all the passenger seats back into that plane they test-crashed recently in Arizona, fill them with live people, roll the plane back on its side, in the position to occupied after the test crash, and see how long it takes them to get out.

On Your Own

Another New York City incident has raised eyebrows—this one because 40 bystanders failed to help an 18-year-old girl who broke free from an attacker and pleaded for help, obviously in a state of distress.

When police arrived, they found a girl stripped of her clothing and attired in nothing but the jacket of the man she said had attacked her. The police broke through a circle of gaping onlookers to seize the accused attacker.

Last March, police said no less than 38 New Yorkers watched out their windows and overheard in their living quarters the sight and sound of a young woman murdered with a knife by an assailant who made three separate attacks before she died, pleading for help.

These incidents are cited as evidence that something about New York City makes its residents peculiarly indifferent to violence. But there is another possibility just as frightening—that something about the times makes all of us indifferent and New York City, being uniquely large, is producing more examples than occur anywhere else.

"You're on your own." The thought isn't peculiar to New York City.

There would be no fire, no panic. All injuries would be simulated. Each person in the plane would be told to act as if his simulated injury were real.

Exits on the side of the plane next to the ground would be useless. Exits on the other side would be overhead. It would be an interesting experiment in agility. Some cripples, a few babies and a couple of obese specimens should be mixed in for good measure.

It would prove something that needs no proving—that passengers in commercial planes are jammed in so tightly quick escape is out of the question under any but the most ideal circumstances.

The FAA is interested in the fact the fuselage of a wrecked plane is frequently intact, yet the passengers have perished, though not from the impact of the crash. They perished because of what happened after the impact—fire, panic, trampling, suffocation, etc.

In other words, commercial airliners are structurally safe enough to save lives in a crash if the passengers had a way to get out of them afterward, which means a "no passing" zone. You could very well cross one of those lines

Point of No Return

City service crews are busy painting those white and yellow centerlines to help guide motorists into the correct lanes on Salem streets.

In addition, crosswalks will be designed to help pedestrians.

Drivers are urged to observe the crosswalks and also those yellow center lines, which means a "no passing" zone. You could very well cross one of those lines some day—and never come back.

IRS Focuses On Hoffa

By VICTOR RIESEL

Few outsiders are aware of the action, but the Treasury Department has started proceedings to force James Hoffa to pay personal income taxes not only on certain legal fees paid for him by the Teamsters' Brotherhood, but also on hotel expenses, insurance premiums and transportation costs he has drawn from his giant union.

Victor Riesel
The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has ruled that such union payments constitute personal income on which he must pay taxes. This action covers the year 1959 when Hoffa was twice tried on wire tapping conspiracy charges in New York City.

To collect these additional taxes from Hoffa the government will have to go into court. Should the IRS succeed, it will set a precedent which could cost the Teamsters' president scores of thousands of dollars in taxes on the large amount of personal expenses he has rolled up and on approximately $850,000 in additional legal fees subsequently covered for him by the Teamsters.

LAST OCTOBER the Treasury Department billed him and Mrs.

Hoffa for an additional $20,295 for the year 1959. They had reported a taxable income of $71,407.25 for that period. The government ordered them to pay on a total income of $100,519.77. This meant according to the IRS, that the Hoffas had taken in $29,112.52 more than they had reported.

The bulk of this additional sum, the government said, was in the form of legal fees totaling $22,930.60, which the Teamsters had paid to cover Hoffa's two wiretapping conspiracy trials. The first resulted in a hung jury — reportedly an 11-1 vote. The second ended in Hoffa's acquittal.

The Treasury Department argues that the union should not have been compelled to pay for Hoffa's defense against a federal charge of wrong-doing, since this was a personal matter. Hoffa countered that the charge grew out of his activities as president of the Teamsters. Therefore, he claimed, the attorneys' fees for conducting his defense were an expense "which was directly in relation to and incidental to his business and occupation. . . ."

FAR MORE is at issue in this action than the 1959 legal fees. The trials involved then resulted from federal charges. So did the Nashville and Chattanooga trials which cost the Teamsters vast sums.

The current loan fraud trial in Chicago could cost the Hoffa defense upward of $250,000. When added to previous trial expenses, costs of investigations, bills for special investigators and squads of lawyers numbering more than 12 at a time, the total should run close to $1.25 million.

If the Treasury Department proves its case covering the taxes for 1959, a precedent would be set for charging Hoffa with the larger sum rolled up since then as taxable earned income.

That would be just the beginning of Hoffa's financial troubles. The little known 1959 action would also earmark some of Hoffa's out-of-court expenses as earned income. This could involve added hundreds of thousands of dollars spent by the union in the last five years.

THERE IS, for example, a Teamsters' plane which Hoffa has used extensively to commute between cities during his trials. This involves a purchase price of $40,000 plus crew and maintenance expenses. For 1959, the government wants $2,000 worth of union-paid transportation costs charged to Hoffa.

Other of the 1959 expenses — provided by the union — which the government wants to tax are not related to the wire-tapping trials. During that year Hoffa used a suite at the Hotel Woodner at Washington. The Treasury Department says that $2,400 which the union paid for the rooms should be charged to Hoffa's own income. The IRS contention is that the suite was for "personal living" costs.

Hoffa maintains he needed the suite for meetings at irregular hours and that his duties as president required him to be in Washington frequently.

IF THE GOVERNMENT wins its point on the hotel tab in court, it paves the way for charging the hotel suites in Nashville and Chattanooga to Hoffa because those were used during the long trials. It could also set a precedent for charging Hoffa with very many "on the road" expenses.

Then there is the matter of insurance premiums paid that year by his home local, No. 299, in Detroit, to two insurance companies for his endowment annuity policy. This money — $1,781.92 — also should be part of Hoffa's taxable income according to the Treasury Department and here, too, a government victory would leave Hoffa wide open for heavy tax payments plus interest.

What disturbs Hoffa is that the years subsequent to 1959 are the years during which the really heavy expenditures piled up. If the Treasury Department wins, he'll have to turn into a one man Fort Knox to get himself out of hock.

The Big Political News

By DAVID LAWRENCE

In the news reports of Tuesday's primaries as reflected in some of the headlines and dispatches, the least attention apparently was given to the item that really carries the most political significance.

For it doesn't matter very much that Gov. Wallace of Alabama got 32 per cent of the Democratic presidential-preference primary vote in Indiana, instead of the 35 per cent that somebody else thought he was going to get. Nor is it of political importance that Gov. Wallace got 34 per cent of the Democratic primary vote in Wisconsin and only 32 per cent in Indiana.

What stands out as significant in all the political news of last Tuesday's various elections is that the State of Alabama repudiated the Democratic national ticket by an overwhelming majority and turned down electors pledged to vote for President Johnson in the electoral college.

This is reminiscent of what some of the Southern states have done in other presidential years but it is particularly relevant this time because in recent months it has been widely assumed that President Johnson would carry the South next November without any difficulty.

GOV. WALLACE is not, of course, a real contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, and about all he can accomplish in primaries — already in Wisconsin and Indiana and on May 19 in Maryland — is to give those who are protesting the civil rights bill a chance to record themselves.

The fact remains that more than 170,000 people went to the polls in Indiana — a Northern state — and voted for Gov. Wallace of Alabama. It's similarly worth noting that 266,000 voted for Gov. Wallace in the Wisconsin primary.

What is the true significance even of such numbers? It doesn't mean that the Democratic party in either of those states is necessarily going to be defeated in the autumn elections, but it does mean that a protest vote exists.

Some newspaper reports indicate that the Republicans "crossed over" for the purpose of voting in the Democratic primary in Indiana and registered their opposition. This happened also in the Wisconsin primary recently.

WHEN VOTERS begin to cross over, they can do so in the final elections as well as in primaries. The civil rights issue may bring about a lot of switching of votes when Republicans vote the Democratic ticket and the Democrats vote the Republican ticket, based upon their own convictions on this particular issue.

Protest votes in primary elections, moreover, often have very little to do with the individual whose name is on the ballot. Thus, former Gov. Stassen of Minnesota was pitted against Sen. Goldwater in the Republican presidential primary in Indiana, and he got 29 per cent of the vote.

This will be regarded by Stassen's friends and supporters as substantial, although he was the only other Republican on the ballot and, in a sense, mobilized all the anti-Goldwater sentiment.

Yet everybody knows that former Gov. Stassen is not likely to have much of a chance in the Republican Nominating Convention — any more than Gov. Wallace will be a contender for the Democratic nomination.

SO ALL that the primaries thus far have done is to afford an opportunity for a protest vote to be emphasized. There is no doubt that Sen. Goldwater's large vote in many states and his lead at the present time for the presidential nomination are due almost entirely to disapproval of the Democratic administration on the part of Republican voters who feel very deeply on this subject. In fact, the Goldwater strength may, to a large extent, be attributed to the desire of many Republicans to express unequivocally their opposition to the Kennedy-Johnson administrations.

In the South, the reasons for voting for an unpledged set of electors are not related in any way to ambitions or efforts of any particular Democratic candidate to win the nomination as against Lyndon Johnson. It is taken for granted the President will be the nominee of the Democratic party, and the main purpose of the protest vote is to assemble enough unpledged electors so that, if by any chance the election is a close one, the unpledged electors may hold the balance of power.

THE SOUTHERN states were able to make the 1948 election relatively close because, with Strom Thurmond as a candidate of the States Rights party, 39 votes were cast for him, and this cut down Mr. Truman's majority in the electoral college. Had there been a small shift of votes in one or two of the populous states in the North, Mr.

Truman might have been defeated. Yet if the Southern states had voted as they customarily did in previous years, Mr. Truman would never have been in danger of losing the election in 1948.

So since the State of Alabama has voted for unpledged electors in a Democratic primary, there is a possibility that in the final election in November the same thing may happen in other states.

President Johnson told his news conference on Wednesday that he didn't think any other state would follow Alabama's example.

It has been assumed generally that, if Goldwater is the Republican nominee, he would carry some of the Southern states. If he is turned down by the Republican convention, then the alternative of the voters who are opposed to the Democratic administration will be to vote for a slate of unpledged electors in their respective states so as to obtain, if possible, an important leverage in the electoral college in the event the presidential election is close and neither candidate has a majority.

Matter of Fact

Hereditary mechanism mysteriously provides that there shall be approximately equal numbers of males and females. However, in all races of mankind, more boys than girls are born—between 107 and 104 boys to 100 girls. There is a correspondingly higher mortality rate among males both before birth and throughout life.

Tax Cut Zoom Lacking

By JOSEPH R. SLEVIN

The administration is waiting patiently for the highly touted $11.6 billion tax cut to do its work.

Economic activity is rising strongly but it does not appear to be moving up much more rapidly than before the tax cut became law at the end of February.

If administration experts are disappointed, they are keeping their sorrow to themselves. They carefully had rejected bullish forecasts of a sudden upsurge and judiciously had predicted that the tax cut would supply its thrust gradually.

The official book says it will take six months for the extra spending money to make its full power felt and recent developments are very much by the book.

The one worrisome thing is an overly sluggish retail sales performance. The tax cut is supposed to touch off a chain of super-prosperity by igniting a retail sales boom, but the boom has yet to begin.

Consumers may be saving. They may be paying off old debts. But, for whatever reason, they are spending only a small part of the extra tax-cut dollars that have been coming their way.

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS are the only merchants who report that consumers are flocking into their emporiums. Other retailers find it easy to contain their enthusiasm.

Even after allowing for the statistical quirks—and there are more than usual—it seems clear that the nation's retailers followed an uninspiring March performance with an equally unexciting April.

Administration economists now will keep a particularly close watch on the May trade reports. They can explain away two weak months but three in a row could give them the jitters.

Their tax-cut theory holds that consumers eventually will spend at least 92 per cent of their extra incomes, just as they have been spending that much of their past receipts.

Big and rising consumer outlays are expected to provide the main lift for national economic activity during the spring and summer. Then, industry is scheduled to take heart and boost activity during the final months of the year by spending heavily for inventories and for new productive capacity.

Businessmen are making it clear that they have faith that the consumer spending wave will materialize. A recent McGraw-Hill survey suggests that businessmen are steadily lifting their sights and will spend 12 per cent more for new plants and equipment this year than they paid out in 1963.

THE ADMINISTRATION economists have faith, too.

"Consumers will spend that money, you can be sure of that," a top government expert declares. "The timing is hard to figure but they will spend the money."

A careful check of sensitive business barometers is adding to the government economists' studying the key leading indicators that chief Census Bureau statisticians, Julius Shiskin, ablates monthly, and they like what they see.

The leaders customarily turn down many months before a recession starts, but most of them still are rising. What is more, they are rising vigorously.

Some of the strength reflects anticipation of the tax cut. But the government economists are confident that the main impact of the tax cut—like the big retail sales boost—has yet to be felt.

They are betting that the pace of the business upturn will quicken soon.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Body Needs Proper Amount of Oxygen

The oxygen in the air we breathe keeps us going. When a person needs more than he can get normally, he can be placed in an oxygen tent or can use an oxygen mask.

Now from Holland comes a device which shows great promise. It consists of a tank large enough to serve as a complete operating room, into which pure oxygen can be pumped.

The many uses to which such a tank can be put include the treatment of carbon monoxide poisoning, decompression sickness or bends, gas gangrene, tetanus, apoplectic strokes and shock. It has also been found to enhance the effectiveness of X-ray treatments for cancer.

IN CERTAIN CHRONIC diseases characterized by an insufficiency of oxygen, such as decompensation of the heart, improvement is noted only while the victim remains in the tank. For such a person, the oxygen mask or tent is still the best mode of treatment.

Perhaps the tank's greatest success to date has been its use in heart surgery, especially on children with congenital defects. An operation is started at sea level pressure, then the pressure and oxygen concentration are increased so that the system is drenched in pure oxygen for 10 minutes. This not only doubles the oxygen saturation in the blood, it also enables the plasma to carry 15 times as much oxygen as it does under normal conditions.

THIS MEANS that tissues can get oxygen from the plasma instead of from the red blood cells and operations can be performed that would otherwise require marked lowering of the body temperature. Other applications of the tank are being investigated.

At present the chief disadvantage is that the apparatus is very expensive. There are also certain potential hazards that must be studied. Rigid safeguards against explosion, fire and sudden accidental loss of pressure must be built into the tanks.

Furthermore, too great a concentration of oxygen in the blood can damage the retina and other delicate nerve cells. Safe limits, which may vary from one individual to another, have yet to be determined.

'Pop' Pianist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — At the age of 4, Peter Nero was able to make up tunes on a toy xylophone.

At 7, while visiting relatives, he began picking out the same tunes on a battered old upright piano.

By the time he was 14, Peter had won several awards and made a number of symphony hall appearances. He was regarded as a child prodigy, and it was taken for granted by his teachers and family that he would become a concert pianist.

"But the most important thing in this world is to be honest with yourself," said Peter. "The turning point in my life came at 22 when I decided I didn't want to be a classical concert artist. I always hated to practice, and you can't hate to practice and be that kind of a professional artist."

Despite his early dislike for spending long hours at the piano, Nero went on to carve out a unique niche in the musical world.

At 29, featuring a blend of classical forms with jazz improvisations, he has become perhaps the most successful "pop" pianist in the field.

Each year he does 100 concerts, appears on up to a dozen television shows, and turns out three albums. He also has composed 30 tunes, acted in and written the music score for a film, and signed to do three more films.

Peter certainly suffered no financial loss by turning his back on a purely classical career.

He worked several years on the cocktail lounge and supper club circuit.

He foresees no great change forthcoming in American music.

"The market today is dominated by teen-agers, so it is difficult to tell what the real musical tastes of the country are. Teenagers seem to have a lot more money to spend than they did 15 or 20 years ago."

What about England's latest gift to culture—the long-haired Beatles?

"I think the Beatles are wonderful—but I still like music myself," he said.

Beauty for the asking

By JOSEPHINE KAERCHER, Beauty Consultant MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

If there's one basic truth about a more beautiful you, it must lie in your own desire to look your very best.

If you've spent most of your life scrubbing your face with soap before you go to bed, you don't feel clean unless you've scrubbed your face with soap. You're a creature of habit.

Truth of the matter is soap-scrubbing not only doesn't necessarily mean a clean face, it can actually damage your complexion. While soap may help to remove surface dirt, it is drying. It has a tendency to tighten the outer layer of skin and thus encourage oil accumulation within the pores. This accumulation is responsible for whiteheads and pimples, especially if you have a tendency toward "problem skin" anyway.

Many psychologists argue that nobody breaks a habit. People simply replace one habit with another. Obviously, then, if your face feels taut and dry, change your face-cleansing habit. Use a pure, rich all-purpose cleansing cream instead of soap, as a first step.

And apply a little logic. If you've worn makeup all day, the surface of your skin has had an opportunity to absorb a good portion of that makeup, along with a fair amount of dust.

It's foolish to expect any cream to clean your face if you just apply it and almost immediately tissue it off. You must give the cream a chance to dissolve your makeup and carry it out of the pores. Wait 15 or 20 minutes before you wipe off the cream, gently.

In order to accomplish a lovely complexion and deter the telltale symptoms of age, you'll have to establish a whole new set of habits. What's more, you'll have fun doing it.

There are really only three steps to a clearer prettier complexion: a superb cleanser, a miraculously effective normalizing lotion and a good creamy powder base.

If you're interested in my own very special recommendations and a free hour of beauty, please write to me, care of this newspaper, and I'll be delighted to help you. Just remember, beauty is for the asking, along with a little effort on your part, of course.

Departing Executive Head Honored

Beaver Local Education Association Elects Manning

Mark Manning, sixth grade teacher at Beaver Local Public School, was elected president of the Beaver Local Education Association at its annual dinner meeting Thursday night when departing executive head, Dr. George Van Horne, was honored. One hundred attended.

Hugh Barbour was named vice-president; Lynda Costanzo, secretary; and Chester Urbschat, treasurer.

Gifts were presented from the association to Dr. Van Horne, who is leaving June 30 to accept the position of head of the education department at Geneva College.

The executive head expressed regrets in leaving and praised the Board of Education and personnel in the district for "fine cooperation."

"I feel I am taking more with me in experience and wisdom than I am leaving behind," he said.

In face of Tuesday's primary defeat of a 5-mill levy, 734 - 834, Dr. Van Horne urged teachers not to lose faith in the school district. "I personally feel that Beaver Local has great potential and will some day be a forerunner in things to come in education."

"Geneva College is not so far away that I can't come down and root for the Beaver Local football team," he quipped.

William Smith, Board of Education member, and J. L. McBride, county superintendent of schools, lauded Dr. Van Horne for his leadership and guidance during his tenure.

Entertainment was provided by Beaver Local students.

Andrew Mellon gave a saxophone solo and Darla Beadnell and Betty Freeman sang a duet. Junior majorettes Janet Gary, Vicki McElhany, Sharon Hickman, Sandra Thompson, Patty Entriiken and Patty Cope presented a dance routine.

The dinner was arranged by Mrs. Mary E. Horner and Mrs. Jeannette Walters. The freshman class served the meal.

Rail

Thursday, the hour of the start of the job elimination, against two Illinois switching lines, the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and the Peoria & Pekin Union Railroad. But about 10 hours later the walkout was called off by officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen after telephone calls from union chiefs in Washington. The strikes had idled about 950 workers.

Pickets appeared at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Conway, Pa., yards, the world's largest at dawn, but they left shortly after noon. About 400 of the 1,200 workers were affected by the strike.

All four strikes were unauthorized, union officials said, and in defiance of a 10-day restraining order prohibiting walkouts issued Tuesday in Washington by Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

Railroad representatives obtained the court order because of reported strike votes taken on several lines throughout the country. A hearing is set for Monday.

What he hopes to accomplish is agreement by individual Allied leaders to provide greater assistance to the embattled government of South Viet Nam - assistance in the form of technical experts in transportation, agriculture, and the like and also direct economic help.

In the case of Cuba, Rusk believes that in spite of the recent breakaway of Britain and France from the U.S. policy of economic isolation the Allied governments can still be persuaded to lower the level of their trade.

A British firm has sold buses to Cuba. A French firm sold the Communist country trucks, and more recently another French firm concluded a deal for 20 locomotives.

UAW Strikes Ford Plant In Lorain

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — The United Auto Workers struck the huge Ford Motor Co. assembly plant here early today, throwing out of work about 4,400 hourly-paid employees.

Frank Telakowicz, UAW Local 425 president, said the walk-out occurred after negotiations broke off over about 100 unsettled grievances.

Workers poured out of the plant shortly after midnight and picket lines were set up immediately. Some 1,000 production workers and several hundred maintenance employees were in the plant when it was struck. Another 2,100 hourly production workers were to have reported for the 7 a.m. shift today.

Telakowicz said grievances concerned production standards and health and safety issues.

The plant, which turns out Comets, Falcons and Econoline trucks, was last struck in April, 1963.

Weak Hitting LA Loses To Colts 2-1; Mets Edge Cincinnati 3-2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Are officials of the Los Angeles Dodgers beginning to be concerned with the sputtering start made by the defending world champions?

That seemed to be the big question today following two developments—still another loss by the weak-hitting Dodgers, 2-1 to the Houston Colts Thursday night, and a trade report involving pitcher Johnny Podres.

Denied by the Dodgers, the report stated flatly that Colt officials had been offered Podres, who in his only appearance on April 25 was struck in the elbow by a Warren Spahn pitch and has been on the mound for only two innings this season.

"I know nothing whatsoever about it," said Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi. "I haven't talked to anyone on the Houston club. There's absolutely nothing to it."

The loss to the Colts was the 13th in 22 games for the Dodgers and left them six games behind the National League leading San Francisco Giants. The Dodgers are in front of only the Colts and New York Mets.

In all, the Dodgers have scored only 73 runs and hit only 14 homers—eight by Frank Howard. Maury Wills, who collected four hits against the Colts for a .309 batting average, is the only regular hitting over .300. The team is batting .235, eighth in the league.

While the Dodgers were battling their problems, Tom Haller's two-run single in the eighth gave San Francisco a 7-6 edge over the Chicago Cubs. Clay Dalrymple's two-run homer started Philadelphia on the way to 9-6 victory over Milwaukee. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 to a 9-6 victory over Milwaukee.

St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and the New York Mets nipped Cincinnati 3-2.

The Colts scored in the fifth on a single by Walt Bond, a double by Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly. Winning pitcher Bob Bruce led off the sixth with a single and came around with the clincher on a sacrifice and Al Spangler's single.

Dalrymple, hitless in 22 previous trips to the plate, hammered his homer off Hank Fischer following a single by John Herrnstein, snapping a 2-2 tie. The Phillies took it from there. Herrnstein had a double and two singles for the night. Art Mahaffey, tagged for homers by Joe Torre and Eddie Mathews, needed Jack Baldschun's relief help before getting the victory.

The Giants went into the eighth trailing the Cubs 6-5, but singles by Jesus Alou and Willie Mays—the third hit for each—set up Haller's game-winning single off Lindy McDaniel. Mays' three hits lifted his average to .479. Billy Williams went 4-for-5 for the Cubs, who pulled out to a 4-0 first inning lead, but couldn't hold it.

Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer in the first inning, but Curt Simmons, now 3-2, and Roger Craig stopped the Pirates the rest of the way. The Cardinals scored all their runs in the fourth against Bob Veale.

Al Jackson evaded his record at 3-3 by scattering nine Reds' hits. Tim Lincecum's two-run first-inning homer off Jim Maloney, gave the Mets a lead they never lost. Charlie Smith scored for New York in the second when he singled, stole second and came across on a single by Al Moran. Johnny Edwards homered for the Reds.

Oliva Belts 2 Homers, Twins Dump Angels 9-1; Yankees Triumph 9-6

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Credit Tony Oliva's mother and Fidel Castro for giving Minnesota the hottest all-around hitter in the American League today.

Oliva, the Twins' rookie right fielder, ranks second in the league with a .427 batting average, 18 runs batted in and seven home runs following his onslaught against the Los Angeles Angels in the Twins' 9-1 victory Thursday.

He hammered two home runs, one of them a grand slam, rifled two singles and drove in six runs. The output gave him a .581 average in his last seven games.

The 23-year-old Cuban would not even be in the United States today, let alone in the AL spotlight, if Mrs. Oliva hadn't offered some sage advice three years ago.

Oliva, in the country for the first time, was homesick and telephoned his mother for advice.

"You can come back any time; it is your home," Mrs. Oliva said. "But if you come here, you may not get permission to go back to the United States."

Fidel Castro, of course, was dictating departures at the time. That cured Oliva's homesickness.

In National League action, New York knocked off Washington 9-6, Cleveland overpowered Baltimore 9-4 and Boston whipped Detroit 7-3.

Oliva smashed the grand slam, his first in the majors, in the sixth inning when the Twins exploded for five runs and wiped out a 1-1 tie. He singled in a run in the fifth.

The left-handed slugger's performance paved the way for Jim Kaat's third victory against one loss. Joe Adcock's second-inning home run was the only run off Kaat.

The Yankees got a tie-breaking single from Tom Tresh in the seventh and added two runs in the ninth for their victory over the Senators. New York tied the game 6-6 in the sixth when Bobby Richardson singled, sole second and scored on Hector Lopez' third hit of the night.

Dick Howser rapped three singles and knocked in four runs as Jim Grant won his second game for the Indians against two losses. Howser brought home two runs in the sixth and another two in the eighth.

Grant and Tito Francona contributed two-run homers to Cleveland's attack. Boog Pow-ell drove across three of the Orioles' runs with a third-inning double and a single in the seventh.

A pair of two-run homers also helped Boston against the Tigers. Rookies Dalton Jones and Tony Conigliaro hit them, supporting Jack Lamabe's third victory without a defeat. Dick Stuart singled home the two deciding runs in the seventh.

Player's 68 Leads Fort Worth Event

By JAMES MANGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gary Player, first-round leader of the $75,000 Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament with a crisp two-under-par 68, says he will be happy with straight par from here on out.

"I'm not greedy," the slim little South African said with a grin. "I'll take three 70s."

The heavy wet weather which hampered many of the big names in Thursday's opening round was predicted again for today. Accurate driving, always important on the 7,122-yard Colonial, was especially vital because of the weather.

One stroke behind was scrappy Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., who also played a near-perfect round off the tee. Both Jacobs and Player were in the rough on only one drive, and they each took par on those holes. They were the only two players in the 72-man field to shoot sub-par golf. The last time par proved so tough for an opening day was in the 1963 U.S. Open. Grouped at par 70 were Gary Brewer of Dallas, Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., Al Besselink of Merchantville, N.J., and Jerry Edwards of Fort Worth.

Arnold Palmer blew to a fat 75, one stroke ahead of Jack Nicklaus at 76. Defending champ Julius Boros shot a 77. This year's Colonial field is probably the strongest of any tournament this year. Of the current 50 leading money winners, 45 are competing for the top prize of $14,000.

Player, former PGA and Masters champion, is making only his eighth start on the 1964 professional tour. He finished second to Boros in the Colonial last year. Player is 13th on the official money list with $13,840.

Leetonia was first in eight of the nine events held and evened its season record at 1-1. The Bears will be at Columbiana for a dual meet Monday.

Mount Union Gears For Track Crown

ALLIANCE — The Purple Raiders of Mount Union College are riding the crest of Ohio Conference track, having nailed down two legs of the Conference "Track Triple Crown" by winning the indoor championship and the Conference Relays title.

The Mount thincads are now pointing toward the outdoor championships to be held at Ohio Wesleyan University May 22 and 23, and a possible clean sweep of track honors.

If Coach Jim Wuske's Raiders pull it off, it will be the first time that one squad has won all three "crowns" in a single year.

Terry Morlan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson J. Morlan of RD 1, Salem, competes as a broad-jumper and in an event new to college track this year, the triple jump-the old hop, step, and jump. In the latter event, sophomore Morlan has gone 40 feet.

OTHER RAIDERS from the greater Salem area include Ron Weaver, two-miler from North

Lima; broad-jumper and sprinter Bob Lindberg and assistant coach Tony Archibald from Poland; weight-man Gary Fisher and distance-man Larry Kiester from Marlinton; and sprinter Nate Hawthorne and Bill Sutton, two-miler, from Alliance.

Hawthorne is one of the reasons for the Raider's success this year. Regarded as one of the finest quarter-milers in the state, he holds the Conference 440 record of 48 flat set last year as a freshman.

Another fine sprinter is senior Dave Mooney, defending 100 yard dash champion. Earlier this year, at the indoor championships, Mooney set new Conference records in the 55 and 300 yard dashes.

As further proof of Raider strength in the sprints are the relay teams, who set new records every time they run. Composed of Hawthorne, Mooney, Bob Sargent, Harold Riggie, and Sy Green, they boast times of 1:28 in the 880 relay and 3:18 in the mile.

The Raiders run at home in a triangular meet against Oberlin and Malone Saturday and hold an important dual meet with Akron Tuesday.

Indians Whip Orioles 9-4

Throwing At Tribe Batters May Cause Pitchers Trouble

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant of league-leading Cleveland warns there may be trouble if opposing pitchers continue to suddenly lose their control when teammate Leon Wagner or any other Indians step up to the plate.

"There has to be a stop put to throwing at Leon or anybody else on the team," Grant said Thursday night after he got credit for a 9-4 victory over Baltimore.

"There is only one way to handle it—and it's up to the pitchers."

Grant and Tito Francona, both of whom smashed home runs, were hit by Dave McNally, the Orioles starter who beat the Indians and Grant last Sunday in Baltimore and is now 2-1. Grant's was a solo blast and Francona's brought in two runs.

"I'd say he just was pitching me tight," declared Francona, who had a bruise on his arm.

"It was a curve ball that knicked me around the shin bone," explained Grant. "I don't think he wanted to put anyone on base at that time."

Grant, a right-hander with a 2-2 record, said he thought if opposing pitchers "keep throwing" at Wagner "it's bound to bother him."

Wagner, leading the team in home runs with five and the league in runs batted in with 20, had one hit in four at bats. He singled home Grant in the fifth inning after Grant was hit by a pitched ball and then stole second.

Some players have complained that Wagner didn't get much of a chance to swing at the ball in this series because he spent most of the time on the seat of his pants. Since the Indians returned home Wednesday, his batting average had dropped from .304 to .281.

After Wednesday night's game in which Wagner dropped to the ground four times to avoid being hit, the left-handed slugger said he has been around long enough to know "they were throwing at me." Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer, however, denied his pitchers were dusting off Wagner and said the Indians' player was jumping out of the way of "tight curve balls."

Tribe Manager George Strickland refused to be drawn into the controversy when asked about the incidents.

"Pitchers have a strong union. They don't throw at each other."

He said he didn't think McNally, a southpaw, was throwing at the Indians, adding:

"All I can say is that these things even themselves out over the season."

Lawrence Garners Blind Bogey Event

Dick Lawrence fired a 71 to take first place in the initial blind bogey golf tourney held at Salem Golf Club recently.

Roger Kilpatrick, Bud Hone and Vince tied for second place with 78s, while Robert McCulloch and Ray Reasbeck came in with 82s.

Rudy Schuster took medalist honors with a 79, and Dr. Clarence Hartough chipped in his third shot on the 450-yard hole at the course.

Injuries Plague Golden Eagles

United Places 2nd In Triangular Meet

United Coach Mel Klingers Golden Eagles placed second in a triangular track and field meet at Marlinton Thursday.

Veteran United high jumper and weight specialist Ken Votaw has been sidelined for the county meet at East Palestine tonight with a slipped disc in his back.

Another star athlete Gene Metzgar, who has run the 880-yard dash in 2:03 this season, was injured during the broad jump, and didn't run in the half mile yesterday.

It is expected, however, that Metzgar will compete in the distance event in the county classic.

Marlinton took team honors yesterday with 88 points. United followed with 32½, and West Branch came in with 27½.

John Mensch picked up more than half of the Warriors' points as he took first in the 220-yard dash, high jump and broad jump for 15 markers.

He was timed in 24.7 for the dash, cleared 5 feet, 8 inches in the high jump, and leaped an even 20 feet in the broad jump.

Marlinton was first in every other event, with nine different athletes taking a first. The winners also took both relays.

Three of United's athletes came in second. The Golden Eagles mile relay unit also finished second.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

It looks like I better get busy and do some writing. We have been very busy out here at the Country Store.

I usually have plenty of time for writing but with this beautiful weather I have been finding a lot of outside work to do.

Corky Wurster installed one of these new fangled sewage disposal plants for us. We have been doing some work out around it.

Nomura, Envoy to U.S. During Pearl Harbor Attack, Dies

TOKYO (AP)—Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, Japan's ambassador to the United States when his country attacked Pearl Harbor, died today after a long illness. He was 86.

Nomura and special envoy Saburo Kurosu received one of the stiffest tongue-lashings in diplomatic annals when they arrived at the State Department on Dec. 7, 1941 bringing Japan's rejection of the latest U.S. peace formula. Bombs had just begun falling on the Pacific outpost.

Seething with anger, Secretary of State Cordell Hull kept Nomura and Kurosu waiting 15 minutes in an anteroom.

They entered Hull's office smiling and bowing and handed him the Japanese note. He read it slowly, without betraying his fury, even at the sentence, "The immutable policy of Japan is to promote world peace."

Then Hull exploded, telling the two shocked envoys:

"In all my 50 years of public service, I have never seen a document that was more crowded with infamous falsehoods and distortions — infamous falsehoods and distortions on a scale so huge that I never imagined until today that any government on this planet was capable of uttering them."

Nomura, who had been assigned to Washington nine months earlier, repeatedly denied any advance knowledge of the attack which brought the United States into World War II. "I must have been the worst-informed ambassador in history," he said on a visit to the United States in 1953.

U.S. officials generally accepted Nomura's denial and did not press for his prosecution as a war criminal.

A tall, softspoken career navy officer, Nomura was drafted for the diplomatic assignment because he was known in Washington as an advocate of peace with the United States.

In the postwar years, he was a business executive. He was elected to the Japanese Senate in 1950, and he opposed the leftist campaign against the U.S. Japan Security Treaty.

His health failed in recent years and he was under treatment for a brain ailment. He is survived by his widow and a son.
